A pair of arrowhead flowers emerge along the shore of one of MPII's many ponds. A positive spin on the low water due to the rainfall defecit conditions is that the waterline looks a bit like the beach. The arrowheads are enduring and persevering during the drought. So must we all.

Hurricane Season Approaching

It may be hard to believe, but Hurricane Season is approaching once again. In fact, the National Oceanic and Atmospheric Administration (NOAA) is considering extending hurricane season from its typical June 1st – November 30th by adding two weeks to the front end (starting May 15th instead).

What this means is that due to global climate change, not only have the chances of storms and size of storms increased, but now it appears that the timetable for when the storms could strike has increased as well. Even more reason for us, as Tampa Bay area residents, to be prepared and vigilant. So early May is the ideal time to begin your preparations!

The good news is that there are plenty of resources available to help all Tampa area residents prepare for potential storms. It is far better to be prepared and have hurricane season be uneventful than to not be ready when a storm becomes a monster.

One of the best resources is an online site by the federal government. It can be found at www.ready.gov/hurricanes. Another great resource is from the National Hurricane Center and can be found at http://www.nhc.noaa.gov/prepare/ready.php. These sites, as well as most legitimate resources, will advise you to do two key things: have a plan, and have supplies. Don't rely on last year's supplies either. If you packed a bin last summer, go through it again. Purge any expired items, restock with fresh items, and make sure all current recommended items are included. Include masks and hand sanitizer in your kits as well. The state of Florida has eliminated the traditional two-week sales tax holiday on hurricane supplies, but as of last year (8/1/25) many hurricane supplies are permanently tax-free. These include common battery sizes, portable generators (10,000 watts and lower), waterproof tarps, 5-gallon and smaller portable gas cans, and more. For more details, go to https://www.fox13news.com/news/hurricane-supplies-permanently-tax-free-florida-beginning-august-1.

Your plan should include important documents, identification, cash, and important lists (phone numbers, medications, etc.). Don't forget to account for pets that live in your home. Additionally, it's important to know where local shelters are in case your home begins to flood or becomes unsafe in a storm. Our local shelter is at Wiregrass Ranch High School.

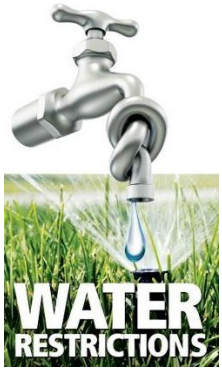

For the next six months, keep an eye on your local news (TV, radio, newspaper,...

Phase III Water Restrictions

While we have had a few brief bursts of decent precipitation in the last three or four weeks, unfortunately the entire Tampa Bay area is still in a severe drought. Over the last 12 months, Pasco County's regional rainfall deficit is 13.7 inches! To put that in perspective, in a direct hit from a hurricane, we typically would receive between 5 and 10 inches of rain, so a direct hit from a hurricane would still leave us in drought conditions.

Due to the extended and significant drought in our area, most counties around us – Pasco included – have increased water restrictions to help offset the deficit and the detrimental conditions.

Effective April 3rd, and lasting through at least July 1st, Pasco is now officially under modified Phase III Extreme water shortage. The Phase III water restrictions affect our area residents in multiple ways.

Firstly, lawn watering (including automatic sprinklers/irrigation) is now limited to one day per week. The watering must be limited to 30 minutes or fewer. And it must occur in either the 8pm – midnight window or the midnight – 4am window. If your home address's last digit is 0/1 your day is Monday. Addresses ending with 2/3 are Tuesday, 4/5 are Wednesday, 6/7 are Thursday, and 8/9 are Friday. This schedule is for watering with potable OR reclaimed water.

Additionally, car washing is restricted to your home's watering day, and you must use a hose with a shutoff nozzle.

Any HOA/CDD deed restrictions that require an increase in water use cannot be enforced during the Phase III restriction period.

Lastly, we can all take steps to further reduce our water usage by small things like only running dishwashers and laundry washing machines with full loads, turning off faucets while brushing our teeth/shaving, or taking slightly shorter showers.

Notably, if any residents work for businesses or government agencies, it is advisable to inquire with the company or Pasco County to see what restrictions are in place commercially. As an example, restaurants should only be serving water on request, not automatically. More information can be found on Pasco County's website. By working together and making minor sacrifices, we can all do our part to reduce the strain on our local water supply to get through the current drought successfully.

or legitimate internet news sources) for more information about storms that threaten our area. It's a good idea to work with at least one neighbor and share your plans. Consider creating a neighborhood email/text group to communicate if there's a significant storm. Such a group could be a great place to offer or request help if a hurricane hits our area. If your plan would have you travel out of the area with an impending storm, a neighbor can keep an eye on your home and property. If your plan is to shelter in place at home, knowing which other neighbors are doing the same enables you to work together during or after the storm to safely endure and recover.

It's also a great idea to do the preparation as a family and include everyone in the home. This way, everyone will know what the plans are, where the supplies are, and what to do. If you were here two years ago for Helene and Milton, you know how vital preparation is. While both of those spared our immediate area (Meadow Pointe) the worst damage, all local residents were either affected personally or knew someone in the Tampa area that was adversely affected. If a hurricane hits this year, you need to be ready. For additional information, please feel free to consult the following sites:

- https://www.floridadisaster.org/planprepare/preparing-for-hurricane-season/
- http://www.nhc.noaa.gov/outreach/
- https://www.pascocountyfl.gov/services/emergency_management/index.php

If we do a little research, properly prepare, and work together, we will get through hurricane season whether any named storms hit us or not.

May Holidays

5th – Cinco de Mayo. Often mistakenly assumed to be Mexican Independence Day, this holiday actually commemorates the unlikely victory of Mexico over France at the Battle of Puebla in 1862. In the battle, approximately 4,000 poorly equipped Mexicans defeated the French Army – 8,000 well equipped soldiers, who had scarcely lost a single battle in nearly 50 years. Today in the U.S., the holiday is not only celebrated by those with Mexican heritage, but also many Americans celebrate the wonderful culture of our southern neighbors. Feliz Cinco de Mayo!

10th – Mother's Day. Created and founded by Anna Jarvis to honor her own mother, a noted peace activist who treated and took care of wounded soldiers on both sides of the Civil War, Mother's Day is now celebrated all over the world. To all the mothers, stepmothers, grandmothers, mothers-in-law, and mother figures throughout MPII – Happy Mother's Day!

14th – Ascension Day. The Feast of the Ascension celebrates the ascension of Jesus into Heaven after Easter. Greek and Orthodox Christians celebrate this on the 21st. For those that celebrate: Have a blessed feast and happy Ascension Day!

16th – Armed Forces Day. Today we honor all Americans serving in the Army, Navy, Air Force, Marines, and the Coast Guard. Thank you all very much for your service! MPII salutes you. Happy Armed Forces Day!

22nd – 23rd – Shavuot. Shavuot began as the Jewish festival of the grain and wheat harvest, but now also commemorates the revelation of the Torah to Moses. The holiday begins at sundown on the 21st and ends at sundown on the 23rd. For those that celebrate: Chag Sameach!

25th – Memorial Day. Not to be confused with Veterans Day or Armed Forces Day, Memorial Day is the day we commemorate and appreciate the well over 1 million men and women who have made the ultimate sacrifice and have died in service to our country. Have a wonderful long weekend but take a break from the cookouts and shopping to reflect on the sacrifices that all of our fallen service members have made. We thank them for their service and their sacrifice.

27th - Eid al-Adha. Eid al-Adha is the Muslim Festival of Sacrifice. It commemorates the faith of Abraham and his willingness to sacrifice his son Ishmael, as well as the Muslim Pilgrims making Hajj (pilgrimage to Mecca). This holiday actually begins at sundown on the 26th and lasts until the evening of the 27th. To all those that celebrate, have a blessed Eid!

Final Mass Print Edition

As hopefully most MPII residents are now aware, this issue of MPII News will be the final mass printed version of our community newsletter. As we first announced in our March 1st issue, to save money and attempt to simplify and streamline communications between the Clubhouse and all residents, as well as being a tad more eco-friendly, we are phasing out the print version of MPII News. We will absolutely continue to produce the newsletter each month because we feel it is a vital communication tool and it helps build and maintain our community.

Many of you over the past few months have opted to receive the newsletter in PDF form via email. Thank you! If you have not done this yet, you can do this at anytime simply by emailing newsletter@mpiicdd.org and asking to be included in the PDF digital distribution. Additionally, the PDF version will be posted monthly to our website at www.meadowpointe2cdd.org.

We know that change and transition can be difficult, so we will still continue printing a small quantity of copies of the newsletter that we can deliver to your home if an email delivery is not going to work for you. To request this, please call (813-991-5016) or stop by the Clubhouse to make this request or send an email to the above email address specifying that you wish to continue to receive print versions as long as they are available.

Eventually we will eliminate the print version altogether, but that may be a ways off in the future still. Also, at least for the near future, we will keep a few printed copies at the Clubhouse that residents may pick up if they need or want a print version.

Those of us that help produce our community newsletter each month THANK YOU for reading, for living here in MPII, and for being a part of our wonderful community.

End of the School Year

It seems crazy, but the end of the school year for local public schools is already upon us! The last day of school for public school students in Pasco and Hillsborough County is Friday, May 29th. The last day of classes at the area colleges are even earlier. PHSC's last day is 5/4, with USF, UT, and St. Leo ending spring terms on 5/7, 5/8, and 5/3 respectively (though final exams occur for several days past that). The good news is clear – effective very soon – daily commutes will be back to their easiest and smoothest time of year (no snowbirds, no school buses!). However, MPII drivers are not off the hook!

With children being home all day, they will be outdoors more often. The kids that live here will be outside enjoying their summer: playing, walking, riding bicycles, heading to and from the pool, and more. MPII drivers need to be diligent and watchful throughout our neighborhood. At any given time, a young pedestrian or child on a bike may be where you least expect them. Remember, they may do things we don't expect, chase after a ball, veer off the sidewalk, etc.

One last thing to bear in mind is that many public schools in our area offer summer sessions. So, it is extremely important that all residents continue to watch for and obey the flashing school zone lights, even during the summer, if they are flashing.

With a small amount of extra caution driving throughout our neighborhoods and practicing good habits like obeying traffic laws and speed limits, coming to full stops at stop signs, etc. we can keep MPII residents of all ages safe this summer while everyone enjoys the slightly easier commutes!

Upcoming MPII EPC Events

This time of year, we are typically hyping up the MPII EPC Spring Fling. However, due to the job vacancy for an Event Planning Coordinator, there is a chance that we will not be able to host that event this year. If that plan changes, we will announce it on the Clubhouse Facebook page as soon as possible.

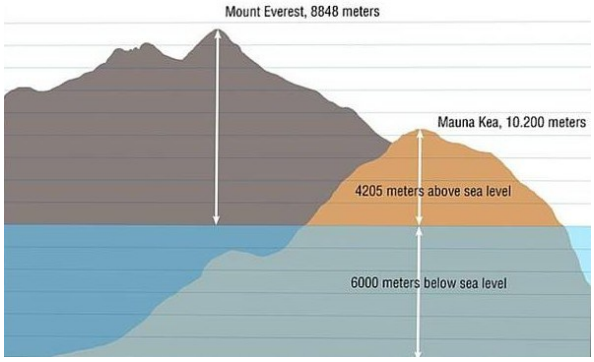

Typically, after the Spring Fling, the EPC takes a short hiatus with the summer heat, and they gear up for an active fall and winter slate of events. Hopefully we will find a perfect candidate in plenty of time for those events. Stay tuned!

In the meantime, if you or anyone you know is looking for a job, the Event Planning Coordinator position is posted on our website and Ziprecruiter. Check one of those spots for details and requirements.

Trivia Answer (from page 3): Mauna Kea in Hawaii!

While many people first think of Everest, which is 8,848.86 meters tall and is the highest point above sea level, Mauna Kea's base is at the ocean floor, making it an amazing 10,210 meters tall. Also noteworthy, the summit of Mount Chimborazo in Ecuador is Earth's closest point to space, due to the slight bulge of the Earth's sphere at the equator and that mountain's height of 6,263.47 meters. That summit is actually 2.1 kilometers closer to space than the summit of Everest.
